

Carey Services

Turning abilities into opportunities

Carey Services Names New Training Center

Carey Services is in the midst of a bold, transformational project – the conversion of a workshop space in Building C on our Marion campus into what has been referred to as the training and career development center. The space will be comprised of the modular learning labs focused on career and life skills development. Even before the start of the construction, the staff began conversations about a name for the space. As you can imagine, many ideas were considered and discussed. The goal is for the name and logo to reflect the intentionality of the programming that will happen in the space. The name and logo need to connect with the Carey Services' mission of "turning abilities into opportunities," as well as the organizational vision and values. The name needs to show action, transformation, a person-centered approach. It needs to speak not only to individuals with disabilities, but also to other audiences and the community. Discussion centered on how the name and logo need to represent the space and programming as a path to meaningful days and living one's best life, not as a final destination or ending point.

With the completion of the space a few months away, we are excited to share the official name and logo of the new career and life skills development space at Carey Services. The name of the bold transformational program is.....eMPower Academy, My Path at Carey Services!

MEET GREG

Carey Services

"I love painting and creating signs to sell. I really enjoy coming to Creative Hearts five days a week. Working with my staff and going on outings with staff are also things I enjoy doing."
